Widow Re-Enters Inferno for Boy

Child Safe With Mother

By RON BAIRD

An 86-year-old widow dashed back into her blazing home here three times yesterday in an attempt to rescue a year-old grandson she thought was trapped in the fire.

The infant was not in the house.

But today, Mrs. Sylvia G. Punnett, a frail, diminutive woman, is homeless.

So are her son Lionel, daughter-in-law Jean and grandson Perry.

Her home at 1044 McClure Street is almost a total loss.

Fire, which exploded with such intensity it blew out all the back windows in one sudden blast, reduced the old-style house to a mass of charred and water-soaked debris.

REES HOMELESS

Little was saved. Even a number of bee hives, owned by her son, were wrecked and the bees themselves left homeless.

No one was in the house when the fire first started. Mrs. Punnett was working in the front garden, her daughter-in-law and grandson out for a walk and her son at work at H.M.C. Dockyard.

The alarm was turned in by a neighbor.

When the elderly woman realized her home was on fire, she ran into the house searching for Perry. Smoke drove her back, but she tried twice more. She did not realize that the house was empty.

Said a neighbor, Evelyn Brown, 1040 McClure: "I saw a bit of smoke, then suddenly the windows blew right out and smoke and flames poured out of the kitchen. It was like an inferno."

NO SHOES

After city firemen from headquarters station had arrived, Mrs. Punnett was taken to the home of a niece. She was worried because she didn't have any shoes with her, only bedroom slippers.

Her son and his family spent the night with neighbors.

The son did not realize until hours later that there had been a fire. The family was unable to reach him at work.

Cause of the blaze was undetermined, but it may have started from a kitchen stove at the rear of the house. The residence is believed owned by a sister of Mrs. Punnett who is in England. It was not known whether insurance covered the loss.

Princess Stays With Father

Travel plans of Britain's Royal family were upset today after announcement by London physicians that King George VI, shown with Princess Elizabeth during their recent stay in Scotland, would undergo a lung operation soon. Announcement brought quick cancellation of plans to sail for a Canadian tour Tuesday, although she and the Duke of Edinburgh hope to fly to Quebec later. —AP Wirephoto.]

May Operate On King Today

LONDON, Sept. 22 (Saturday) (AP)—The King was being prepared today for a lung operation at Buckingham Palace.

The hour of the operation was not disclosed in official announcements but other reports said it would be very soon, probably during the day.

Plans of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to sail next week on a visit to Canada were altered by the decision to operate. Now they plan to fly the Atlantic Oct. 2 arriving in time to carry out their scheduled tour as previously outlined.

Several ambulances moved into the Palace grounds by a back gate soon after the King's doctors announced last night he agreed to the surgery.

ONLY HINTS

The ambulances presumably carried surgical and other equipment to turn a Palace apartment into an operating theatre.

There have been only hints as to the exact nature of the King's lung trouble. Reports published abroad speculated it might be cancer or tuberculosis.

British newspapers, worried for some time over the King's protracted illness, referred last night only to the bulletin from the panel of King's physicians saying he agreed to the operation.

The panel consists of two surgeons, one an expert on surgical treatment of tuberculosis; two specialists on respiratory diseases and three general physicians.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, called for special prayers for the King in all Britain's churches Sunday.

Elizabeth's plans to go to Canada were announced as altered along with word the operation was to be performed.

A final decision on the 55-year-old King's own projected visit to Australia next year will be announced in a week or two, the doctors said, after they have time to diagnose the results of their surgery.

The physicians' bulletin did not enlarge upon the "structural changes" which they said Tuesday have taken place in the King's lung, but it noted his condition "gives cause for concern."

The doctor's announcement was issued after they had visited the ailing King the fifth time in three days. An anxious crowd outside Buckingham Palace watched Sir John Weir, the King's head physician, and his three associates go in with their little black satchels.

After the doctors' first call today, Queen Mary went to visit Princess Elizabeth at Clarence House. The Princess and her husband paid a short call at Buckingham Palace tonight.

The R.C.A.F. was asked late today, when it was announced the Royal couple could not come by ship, whether the C-5 is ready and available to go to London. The answer was yes. No orders had been received early tonight.

Either the R.C.A.F. or the British Overseas Airways was expected to get the assignment.

An R.C.A.F. official said he doubted a four-engine plane could land at Quebec City because of the size of the airport. He thought the plane would have to fly to Montreal or Ottawa.

Arena Ice Machine Has Leaky Coils; May Delay Hockey

Repair Time Indefinite

It may not be possible to make ice at Victoria's Memorial Arena by Oct. 8—scheduled opening date of the hockey season here.

That was the word yesterday from arena manager J. A. Dukowski, who reported a leak had been discovered in coils which carry ammonia through the building's huge brine tank essential in the manufacture of ice.

The fault was discovered yesterday morning during a general testing of all ice-producing facilities of the arena.

In an emergency telephone call to Vancouver late yesterday morning, Mr. Dukowski asked Thomas Bull, engineering representative of the Canadian Ice Machine Company, to fly to Victoria as soon as possible.

Mr. Bull will arrive to inspect the damage Monday.

Exact nature of the leak in the big brine tank will not be known until a thorough check is made of the coils. It's possible 5,000 gallons of valuable brine will have to be removed from the steel tank.

HUNDREDS OF FEET

"There are four coil units in the brine tank, and each of them contains approximately 768 feet of three-quarter-inch pipe," said Harry Ingle, chief engineer of the arena.

"Right now we have no way of knowing for sure where the leak is located. If we're lucky, it'll be somewhere near the top, where we can get to it quite easily and handle the repair job."

But "soundings" already made indicate the trouble is located close to the bottom of the tank. That would mean removing all the coil pipe.

The leak is allowing ammonia from the coil pipe to mix with the brine.

Repairs will start as soon as possible, probably today. What time will be required is anyone's guess, the arena engineer said. Removal of the coils would be a big job in itself.

"It's quite possible," Mr. Ingle said, "that the leak is from a faulty weld."

He explained the coils were factory-made and installed as complete units, and added: "New equipment like this shouldn't provide trouble of this kind for at least 10 or 15 years."

It isn't the first time. Toward the end of last year's hockey season two pinpoint leaks were discovered. Fortunately the trouble was near the top of the massive coil structure, and was repaired with comparatively little trouble.

The steel brine tank is located by the east extremity of the arena. It measures approximately 8 by 20 feet, and stands eight feet high. The hundreds of feet of coil pipe stand about five feet from the floor level.

Ammonia, pumped through the coil pipe, chills the brine, which is kept in constant circulation through pipes in the arena floor while ice is being made or maintained.

"We'll do everything humanly possible to have ice here by Oct. 8," Mr. Dukowski said late yesterday afternoon.

Seventy-year-old resident A. R. Mosher, who founded the arena 12 years ago and has headed it ever since, was re-elected.

Thomas Mackie of the United Mine Workers of America at Drumheller, Alta., ran against secretary-treasurer Pat Conroy and was beaten by a 532-53 vote.

Elected vice-presidents were Sol Spivak, Amalgamated Clothing

Conroy Resignation Tops Executive Rift in C.C.L.

By JOHN L. BLANC

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21 (CP)—A sharp split in the top ranks of the Canadian Congress of Labor was climaxed dramatically tonight when Pat Conroy, national secretary-treasurer and chief executive officer of the 350,000-member C.C.L., tossed in his resignation and stamped out of the congress convention.

The fiery red-haired Conroy walked out because, he said, the convention had repudiated his judgment in failing to re-elect to the C.C.L. executive committee Sam Baron of Hamilton, textile union leader who has been the subject of an intense back-room battle among congress factions in the last few days.

The fiery red-haired Conroy walked out because, he said, the convention had repudiated his judgment in failing to re-elect to the C.C.L. executive committee Sam Baron of Hamilton, textile union leader who has been the subject of an intense back-room battle among congress factions in the last few days.

Earlier, U. H. Millard of Toronto, Canadian chief of the 60,000-member United Steel Workers of America—the country's biggest union—refused to run for the vice-presidency he has held for some years because he split with the executive over the Baron issue.

Millard supporters managed to get Baron knocked off the executive in the annual elections that concluded tonight, putting two steelworkers on the executive committee—and Conroy immediately got up and announced he was quitting.

A delegation was sent after Conroy, but reported back that Conroy has refused to change his mind. Thereupon, the congress, which had been in the late stages of its agenda, promptly declared an end to business and adjourned for the year, turning over its incoming executive council the Conroy issue and other remaining business.

Seventy-year-old resident A. R. Mosher, who founded the arena 12 years ago and has headed it ever since, was re-elected.

Unions Ask Reduction In Taxes

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21 (CP)—Tax reductions and improvements in the unemployment insurance setup were sought today by the Canadian Congress of Labor at its annual convention.

Nearing the end of the annual forum of 350,000 workers that opened Monday, the 634 delegates adopted resolutions calling for:

1. Repeal of this year's 25-percent boost in the federal sales tax which lifted it to 10 per cent from eight per cent, and repeal of recent excise tax increases.

2. Increasing the personal income tax exemptions to $3,000 for married men and $1,500 for single taxpayers from the existing $2,000 and $1,000, along with an increase in the exemption for children to $400 from $150.

3. Exemption from income tax on the full amount paid for medical, dental and hospital care.

4. Increasing the rates of benefit payments in unemployment insurance by an unspecified amount to bring them "into line with present living costs."

5. Extending unemployment insurance to such groups as farm workers, teachers, domestics, forestry workers and those in hospital service.

6. Provision of sickness disability insurance to tie in with the unemployment insurance scheme.

A further legislative proposal adopted by the convention was that the wartime excess-profits tax should be reimposed, on a non-refundable basis.

Wreckage Of Plane Identified

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C., Sept. 21 (CP)—Wreckage of a U.S. bomber found high atop Mount Creighton has been identified as one that carried an 11-man crew.

It was a U.S. Navy twin-engine Neptune plane which disappeared last December—two days before Christmas—on a training flight over Vancouver Island.

The identity was established tonight when an R.C.A.F. search party returned here after four hazardous days in the mountains.

With them, the searchers brought out the remains of the 11 men who died when the plane crashed into the mountain.

"There was no evidence that anyone had survived the crash," said Bert Hughes, a Vancouver reporter who accompanied the search party.

"We found nothing but wreckage and bones. There were no personal effects—not even dog tags—found by the searchers."

The remains of the men were found strewn over a 400-yard area at the 4,000-foot level on the steep mountain.

"Apparently the plane hit the mountain head-on, cutting trees. It was bent like tinfoil, except the tail section, which was still intact," reported Hughes.

With elements of three divisions, it was one of the heaviest tank-infantry assaults of the war. Field dispatches reported it accomplished its first objective—to shoot up all Communist strong points and then withdraw.

In eastern Korea, the bloody five-week-long "battle of the hills" diminished to a sporadic patrol clashes.

Tokyo reports said Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway kept his own counsel today on when and how he will reply to the Communist offer to resume Korean armistice talks.

There was reason to believe that Friday's armored "Operation Cleaver" might be an Allied move to show the Reds what could happen on the battle line if their latest truce manoeuvre was merely a time-stalling ruse.

The bulk of Esquimalt Conservatives are secretly supporting Cmdr. A. C. Wurtele although their official stand is for Coalition candidate Mayor Percy George, a Conservative official said yesterday.

A spokesman for the Esquimalt District Progressive Conservative Association made this statement after he learned of a vote of censure passed on Whitworth Stanbury by the Victoria Federal Progressive Conservative Association.

Mr. Stanbury was censured for his activity as campaign manager for Cmdr. Wurtele, Independent.

The bulk of censure was passed at a special meeting Thursday night.

"Stanbury isn't the only Conservative supporting Wurtele," the spokesman said. "And I don't think you'll find very many of them voting for the Coalition candidate Oct. 1."

Mr. Stanbury is quoted as saying that "hundreds of other Conservatives are working and voting for Cmdr. Wurtele."

John Fox, secretary-treasurer of the Esquimalt Conservative body, called the vote of censure against Mr. Stanbury "distasteful" act.

Tank Attack Achieves Objectives

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 22 (Saturday) (AP)—Three Allied tank columns smashed boldly into the Communists' rusty "iron triangle" Friday and blasted everything in sight. Then they pulled back for the night.

Their co-ordinated armored thrust on the central Korean front was aimed at Pyongyang, apex of the old Communist build-up triangle.

With elements of three divisions, it was one of the heaviest tank-infantry assaults of the war. Field dispatches reported it accomplished its first objective—to shoot up all Communist strong points and then withdraw.

Three Dead, 10 Injured In Series of Gas Blasts

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—Three persons were known dead and 10 were injured in a series of gas blasts that destroyed at least 20 homes in the fashionable suburb of Brighton today.

The coroner's office said it had no reports of anyone missing.

The blast claimed the lives of two children directly. One person died of a heart attack, apparently brought on by the excitement.

The bodies of two children, removed from the wreckage of one home, were believed to be Mary Ann, 8, and William Jr., 4, children of William J. Maas.

Mrs. Louise Meyer, 77, was fatally stricken with a heart attack while being removed from her home.

A utility company official said the first explosion apparently was caused by failure of a regulator on a principal gas main.

Unofficial estimates placed the damage at more than $500,000.

The house was in the centre of the Doughboy colony at Grand Forks.

R.C.A.F. Plane Prepared For Sea Trip

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 (CP)—The R.C.A.F. has told the government its big C-5 Royal visit transport plane is ready and available to fly the Atlantic to bring Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Canada, an official said tonight.

The R.C.A.F. was asked late today, when it was announced the Royal couple could not come by ship, whether the C-5 is ready and available to go to London. The answer was yes. No orders had been received early tonight.

Either the R.C.A.F. or the British Overseas Airways was expected to get the assignment.

ALLABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

"The Great Unwashed" was the insulting phrase they once applied to us working people.

If I remember rightly, Shakespeare said Julius Caesar passed clean over because the common people were in the air and uttered such a deal of stinking breath.

These things were once thought to be unpleasant signs of low birth. But times and manners have changed.

"A man is a gentleman when he has learned to sweat," Rev. Father Leo Hobson told the Canadian Congress of Labor Education in Vancouver.

"God preserve Canada if Canada were peopled by the kind of people who never perspire. If this were so, we would have only two classes—those mad geniuses who would probably blow the country to smithereens, and a bunch of perfumed parasites."

And I've believed the lifebuoy ads for all these years!

My friend's two little daughters saw a magician's show recently. They afterwards put on an amateur conjuring show in the sitting room, and made domestic objects disappear.

At the Sportsmen's Show in the arena the other night I noticed one of the little girls hopping with excitement as the performers went through their paces.

She saw rope-spinning, log-burbling, canoe-tipping and other lively pastimes.

For a few days her mother will have to keep a life-guard watch on the lake front and watch out for ropes underfoot.

One of the little girl's current heroes is hurler Russ Ellison of Aberdeen, Washington, four times winner of the world's log-burbling championship, and current champion. His act is the best in the show, for my money.

My friend's little daughter was especially struck by the skill of Russ' 10-year-old daughter Diane, who shares the limelight with him. Diane has won many amateur log-rolling contests and could probably get a job as a boom man right now.

The night I was watching, she took on her dad in a friendly log-rolling match, and they both got wet.

Russ also cavorts around on a very unsteady-looking wooden cylinder and a wooden ball 36 inches in diameter. He practices every day on another wooden ball mounted on bearings.

On the opening night the fashion show was so tedious long that every man in the audience and many of the women were yawning. But when the Sportsmen's Show winds up tonight, the fashion parade will be down to 10 minutes, a reasonable length.

Mayor Percy George, Coalition candidate for Esquimalt, attributed most of the anti-government criticism heard in B.C. to newcomers to the province, and to others who are not natives of B.C.

In my small opinion Mr. George is a good mayor and a likeable and sincere man, though I wouldn't bet on his chances in this race.

But he should know better than to make a statement like that. Must a man be born in B.C. before his opinion counts? Many of the newcomers have votes. The ones who have no votes are still entitled to speak freely.

If B.C. keeps expanding at its present rate, newcomers will far outnumber native sons.

One of the Mr. George's rivals for the mayoralty was once tactless enough to make a slighting remark about prairie people in a speech. That remark may well have robbed him of the mayor's chair.

Rail Union Repudiates Merger With Sea Group

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21 (CP)—The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CBRE) today decided to repudiate a previously announced affiliation with the National Seamen's Association of Canada (Ind.).

A statement issued after an executive board meeting of the CBRE said the union will refuse to admit to membership any members of the N.S.A., headed by H. N. McMaster of Montreal.

Unions Demand Meat Control Curbs Lifted

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (INS)—The A.F.L. Meat Cutters Union urged the government today to scrap all meat control and said the nation is threatened with a meat shortage, black market and mass unemployment in the industry.

The recommendation was contained in telegrams to government officials and members of Congress protesting an army announcement that 10,000,000 pounds of beef will be bought outside this country because U.S. packers failed to submit bids.

The telegrams, signed by Earl W. Jenson, president, and Patrick E. Gorman, secretary-treasurer, of the union which has a membership of nearly 200,000, stated:

"Legitimate meat packers are unable to bid because present O.P.S. controls are burdensome and uneconomical. Slaughterers report loss in excess of $25 on each choice graded steer.

"Some packers are buying only 17 per cent of the number of cattle they bought a year ago."

The two meat union officials asserted:

"It is better to scrap all meat control than to create a meat shortage, black market and industry unemployment."

Jenson and Gorman called for an immediate conference of management, labor and government representatives to survey the entire meat industry.

Australia to Vote on Power To Legislate Against Reds

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 21 (CP)—Five million Australian electors tomorrow will vote on proposals to give the federal government power to legislate against communism.

The referendum arose from a high court ruling that the government act to outlaw the Australian Communist party was beyond its constitutional powers.

Under the Australian constitution the commonwealth's power is limited to those expressly stated in the constitution. All others lie within the powers of the states.

Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies asked that the states "refer" power to curb the Communist party to the commonwealth. The Labor governments in New South Wales and Queensland refused.

The federal government thereupon moved for a referendum amending the constitution to give the commonwealth general power trial, September 12 that his organization, which he said had between 3,500 and 4,000 members, was merging with the C.B.R.E., which has about 28,000 members and is one of the country's largest unions.

Today, the merger was repudiated in a statement issued by President A. R. Mosher of the C.B.R.E., who also is president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, holding its annual convention here.

Mosher said that "While he had offered to accept transfer of such members of McMaster's organization as signed individual application cards for membership in the C.B.R.E., this could not in any way be regarded as amalgamation."

The executive board of the C.B.R.E. now has decided to refuse to consider any application from Capt. McMaster or any of his membership," the statement added.

Churchillian Powers Stay Almost Same

LONDON, Sept. 21 (Reuters)—With a national election close at hand many wonder what changes the years have worked with Winston Churchill since he was Britain's great wartime prime minister.

Churchill will be 77 in November. Those close to "Winnie" say his mental and physical powers are virtually undiminished.

Even the attacks of pneumonia which brought him down during the war have left a robust frame unimpaired although he is slightly deaf.

Churchill makes heavy demands on his constitution, smoking heavily and eating richly though not excessively.

He wakes early, and though he likes breakfast in bed, he works as he eats.

Though he smokes cigars considerably those who know him well say he wastes as much as he smokes.

Out of bed well before 9 a.m., he throws himself into work at

Death Toll 13 As U.K. Train Leaves Tracks

WEDDON, Northampton, England, Sept. 21 (CP)—A Liverpool-to-London express jumped its tracks and plunged down a steep embankment today, killing 13 persons.

About 50 of the 700 passengers in the 15-coach train were being treated at Northampton General Hospital in the Midlands. Others suffered minor injuries.

A brakeman probably prevented a second train, the north-bound Royal Scot, from plowing into the wreckage. Realizing the Royal Scot was due in about two minutes, he raced down the track to a signal box and stopped that train.

The locomotive half-buried itself in a field about 1,000 yards from where it left the tracks. It pulled 12 cars with it. Three of the coaches piled up about the locomotive.

The engineer was buried under tons of coal which slid from the tender. He was dug out after 90 minutes and was able to walk away, though dazed. The fireman also escaped with his life.

Becomes Chief Red Cloud Wallace Honored by Kootenay Tribes

CRANBROOK, Sept. 21.—The duties of representative to His Majesty the King were set aside for a few minutes here yesterday while the Hon. Clarence Wallace, lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, became Chief Red Cloud of the Kootenay nation.

Representatives of five bands which form the Kootenay tribe were on hand in full regalia to see Chief Eustace Francis, acting chief of the St. Mary's band, place the eagle feather headdress of chieftainship on the head of Nasookin Kanu-Selhmiet (Chief Red Cloud).

Chiefs and headmen of the Kootenay tribe with their squaws were on hand together with W. Manson, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway; R. E. Sang, mayor of Cranbrook; the Father Kelly of St. Mary's mission school; J. S. Dunn, super-

Surplus Totals $500,000,000 In Five Months

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 (CP)—The federal government's surplus is continuing to grow, climbing to more than $500,000,000 in the first five months of the 1951-52 fiscal year, Finance Minister Abbott's monthly treasury report disclosed today.

This is more than 15 times greater than the $30,000,000 surplus he predicted for the whole of the fiscal year in his budget speech last April.

It is an indication, too, that the government this year may even surpass the record annual surplus of $670,000,000 piled up in 1947-48.

Mr. Abbott's statement disclosed that most of the pile-up is due to increased individual and corporate tax collections and the fact that defense spending is not keeping up parliamentary estimates.

Government revenues in August jumped more than $100,000,000 to $313,900,000 from $205,300,000 in August last year, bringing the five-month total for the current fiscal year to $1,516,900,000, against last year's $1,067,100,000.

Oddities

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 21 (CP)—It's going to be harder than ever to convince some Frenchmen that America isn't all the "wild west."

Three Frenchmen were standing in a hotel lobby yesterday while one of them told a reporter they had come to get acquainted with America.

"They sent us to Hartford," he said, "because it is the—show do you say—typical American city."

He was about to go on when his voice broke. He stared. So did the other Frenchmen.

Three men in full Sioux Indian regalia were staking across the lobby.

The "Indians," were here for a cigar festival.

MEDIA, Pa., Sept. 21 (CP)—Daniel Kennedy drove only two blocks, but it cost him $100.

Patrolman Chester Souder said this is what happened:

Starting the wrong way on a one-way street, Kennedy knocked over a pile of cinder blocks, hit a one-way traffic sign, smashed down a parking sign, struck a parked car, splintered a contractor's shack, sideswiped another car, bowled over another stop sign, hit three trees and wound up in front of a garage trailing 50 feet of picket fence.

Kennedy entered a plea of guilty before Judge William R. Toal yesterday on a charge of operating a car while under the influence of liquor.

The King's Illness

IT WOULD be unduly pessimistic to voice too much concern over the cancellation of the sailing date of the Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip. It is natural that Their Royal Highnesses would want to stay at home until the present crisis in the King's health had passed, a filial gesture which all will understand and commend. The Princess, and her consort will fly to this country later, according to the announcement from London, on a schedule that will bring them to Quebec on the day previously arranged, viz: October 2. All going well this means that the visit will proceed as planned.

In the background of thought all across the country, of course, will be a certain apprehension lest further developments interfere more seriously with the Royal tour of Canada. While in view of the known deterioration of the King's health news of his forthcoming operation does not come exactly as a surprise, nevertheless it throws sharply into focus the grave nature of His Majesty's current illness. As has become unfortunately all too obvious the burden of kingship, in years pregnant with strain and anxiety, has borne heavily on that fine and resolute man, George VI.

Nowhere throughout the Commonwealth and Empire will there be more heartfelt wishes for his complete recovery than in Canada. Not alone because of the impending visit of his daughter, although that has deepened the intimacy with Buckingham Palace, but because the people of this nation have nothing but an abiding regard for the monarch they are able to claim for themselves as King of Canada. It will be the universal hope that soon he will rally and regain a substantial measure of his former good health, so that when they reach Canada the Royal visitors may enjoy their stay here untroubled by anxiety over one who must be to them a greatly loved parent.

Keep the Free Food Stall Going

THE SURPLUS food stall has been such a success one hopes it will be possible to carry it on through the winter months, when if anything its need may be greater than ever. This will depend on the generosity of givers, as also does the suggestion that the stall should be open twice a week instead of twice a month as at present. Without stronger backing the dynamic godmother who originated the scheme can scarcely be expected to do more than she is doing.

So long as it does not mean pushing her into the background, as sometimes happens when ventures outgrow the resources of their originators, the idea of a service club tying itself up with the surplus food scheme is a happy one, and if any organized group feels impelled to take an active part in this distribution of free food to needy people the community will greatly benefit. As it is Mrs. Barbara Green has done a splendid job, one now being copied elsewhere in the Dominion, and she is deserving of the utmost support that can be given to her.

Who's Generous to Whom?

MINISTERS of the Crown after a few years in office are apt to delude themselves into the belief, unfortunately shared by many of the public, that the huge sums of money they administer belong in some way to the governments they represent. Thus we find Municipal Affairs Minister MacDonald, in a public address this week, talking of the unparalleled "generosity" of the present British Columbia government to the municipalities. That is a very dangerous line of thinking for a public official to adopt towards the disbursement of public funds.

Where does the provincial government get the money it parcels out to the municipalities in the form of grants? From the municipal taxpayers themselves and nowhere else. Moreover it gets much of that money from what can be argued as an invasion of municipal tax fields. The province farms these fields and keeps the bulk of the crop, giving the municipalities a small share to help them keep going.

Sales tax revenue, for example, comes mainly from the retail trade of city and municipal stores and enterprises. The province collects it all, and distributes one-third among the municipalities. It gives back a third of the revenue from licensing motor vehicles, but not one penny of the large revenue it receives from the tax on the gasoline those vehicles use on roads built and maintained at municipal expense. It keeps all of the huge revenue from its liquor business which, operating in the cities, pays none of the local taxes to which other businesses are subject. And, in places like Victoria, it requires the city taxpayers to pay the cost of providing and maintaining certain services for the government's buildings, without recompense.

Who then is being "generous" to whom? What Mr. MacDonald probably meant was that the municipalities are getting today more money from the province than they ever got before; but it should not be forgotten by the minister or anybody else that the present government is collecting 10 times as much in taxes as any government in B.C. in the past. Governments which start feeling paternal and generous need to be reminded where they derive the means for their "generosity."

QUADRA STREET DUST

Sir—With reference to the traffic between Victoria and both Saanichton and Cordova Bay over the Labor Day weekend. All this traffic was expected, yet nothing was done to the stretch of Quadra Street between Douglas Street and Royal Oak Avenue to reduce the dust. I contacted Saanichton police only to find that there is no way in which they can compel the provincial government to lay the dust.

We could endure it when we thought the work on the highway would soon be completed and the nuisance gone. However, I have been told by several different people that no more work is to be done on this part of the new highway this year.

If this is so, can not something permanent be done to lay the dust that has made our lives miserable and filled our house with dust for the last two months?

I understand this is the only part of the new highway in use as yet. If it was not to be at least partly completed, why was it opened to traffic at all?

(MRS.) MARY SCHWAN,
4424 Quadra Street, Royal Oak.

TRAFFIC SUPERINTENDENT

Sir—It is my sincere belief that our chief of police and his capable men of the traffic department have been, and still are, well aware of what should be done about traffic in Victoria. Bearing this in mind a lot of us wonder why someone else should be placed in charge of our traffic problems, which would be calculated to place our chief constable and his traffic department in the background.

The principal need of a change is very simple. Just allow the chief constable to increase his personnel, something that has been long requested, and in co-operation with our city engineers and our street lighting department the job can be perfectly handled without a traffic superintendent. It would be a good idea to ask the opinions of Victoria tax payers about having a traffic superintendent appointed.

Regarding the premature idea of building a swinging bridge over the bay with the money we haven't got, let's buy a few kegs of rivets, some stringers and repair the Point Ellice bridge at once.

I would like to announce that the Greater Victoria Traffic and Safety Council (registered under the B.C. Societies Act) is being reorganized. As one of the original charter members of this society I feel I can say that we will work very closely with the traffic department for safer and saner driving.

CHAS. H. DE LURE, Director,
2702 Government Street, Victoria, B.C.

A WARNING

Sir—A few weeks ago we had our property surveyed by provincial surveyors. Three times the stakes which were on the street line have been removed and thrown into the bushes. This last time there is one stake which we cannot find. To say the least, this is exceedingly annoying and I would be grateful if the parents of energetic mischief-loving sons be warned to tell their sons that the fine for removing surveyors' stakes is $150.

(MRS.) MILDRED DEANS CAMPBELL,
889 Craigflower Road, Victoria, B.C.

PRINCE ROBERT HOUSE

Sir—The logical and sensible solution for the problem of Prince Robert House is for the city to retain ownership of the building and turn it over to the senior citizens as a clubhouse, workshop and salesroom for the manufacture and sale of handicraft. It could be managed and directed by a committee composed of delegates from every pensioners' organization, old-age pensioners, retired civil servants, federal and provincial, etc., with representatives from the art league to supervise manufacture and standard of excellence in the product. Such an organization already exists and I am surprised that a brief for the subject has not been presented to the City Hall long before this as the location is ideal for the purpose and there are literally hundreds of capable and talented elderly people who would welcome the opportunity of taking up some useful and remunerative work.

The place could easily be made self-supporting and no doubt there are many who will receive the new pension who are already well off and who would be only too pleased to turn their pensions over to an organization which will add to the comfort and well being of those who are less fortunately situated. I offer the suggestion for what it is worth.

Old Story

By FRANK KELLEY

NOT so long ago, top ranger Gordon Sword, speaking for the South Vancouver Island Rangers, Inc., stated publicly enough that the members of the organization were strongly opposed to any type of logging in the Sooke Lake area, which is, as most Victorians are well aware, the principal source of Greater Victoria's drinking water.

Mr. Sword said the main reason for voicing the objection at the time was the very real fear that any type of logging, including the selective method suggested for this particular plan, would endanger the continuous supply of water throughout southern Vancouver Island, now served from this not too extensive watershed.

A student of climatic conditions hereabouts, the spokesman for the South Vancouver Island Rangers could find a lot of supporters in his contention that well-forested hillsides surrounding any lake will help to maintain a steady storage of water, attract rain and prevent soil erosion, which generally follows the removal of tree growth, from side hills particularly.

Mr. Sword cited, in support of the Rangers' contention, the difference in the annual rainfall as between Sooke Lake, with its tree-growth still practically untouched, and Shawnigan Lake, only a few miles distant, where logging has taken a heavy toll of trees. In the last 10 years—he quoted government figures—precipitation at Shawnigan measured only half of the Sooke Lake rainfall.

At that, he was just voicing what men familiar with most phases of forest growth have been telling the world for the longest time. At one period in British Columbia's greenest history, forestry experts would point to the fact that through its annual rainfall the island and adjacent mainland coast forests were particularly favored by existing climatic conditions, which provided first-class assurance against fires, and in "act of God" instances would enable natural reforestation to continue.

As the years go by one big question obtrudes. What will be the ultimate fate of the forests? Even with the present difference between annual cutting and yearly increase away off balance, laboratory workers are delving into the possibilities of finding foods for man and beast in the fluids now wasted in the manufacture of wood products. Should they succeed—no doubt they will—as it takes the best part of 100 years to grow a tree of commercial importance at present, a real stand of primeval forest growth will be something to admire in photographic prints.

There is not much doubt about it, considering everything; and a splendid departure, its success in the long run is jeopardized by the continuous removal of full-grown forests, the collectors and holders of moisture. One can not help wondering why owners of timber lands have not, although the matter was widely discussed years ago, practised selective logging on their holdings, taking only mature or near-mature trees without injury to younger growth.

It may be altogether too bad we cannot keep our great forests and, at the same time, enjoy their yearly contribution to our economy. Maybe those who think it can be done will not agree either with the few who believe that British Columbia's principal sources of pay-dollars will not remain in our woods and waters indefinitely. The past year, when lack of water prevented salmon from reaching spawning grounds, was just another condition following the logging of lands which have in a natural way assured the flow of water so necessary to fish-food production.

Reporting From Ottawa

THEY'RE still fighting the battle of the .280 calibre cartridge and rifle here in Ottawa this week—a little publicized but tremendously important side issue at the N.A.T.O. council meetings.

The fight is mainly between the British, who favor this new cartridge and rifle they have developed and adopted, and the Americans, who are sticking by the old and well tried United States .30 calibre.

The four men who must see-eye to eye before a-y agreement on this vital phase of arms standardization is possible are all here—United States Army Secretary Frank Pace, and Defense Ministers Emmanuel Shinwell of Britain, Georges Bidault of France and Brooke Claxton of Canada.

At the August conference of defence ministers in Washington, it was agreed that an early decision would have to be reached among the United States, Britain, France and Canada as to what calibre should be adopted as the common standard. Last week the problem was tackled in Washington again, by high level military men of the four countries. Whether they reached any measure of agreement isn't known, but it is significant that the problem was again tossed into the laps of the defence ministers.

There are really two problems. The primary one is decision on a standard small arms round. The secondary one is decision, if possible, on a standard rifle.

Up until last spring the United States and Canada were in agreement on the United States .30 calibre, and, for the present, the United States Garand automatic rifle. They thought Britain agreed on the .30 calibre cartridge too, and were staggered when Shinwell announced the British would adopt a .280 calibre cartridge and rifle.

Britain's decision dealt a grievous blow to hopes for an early decision on small arms standardization. The Americans thought the British unwise, and so far have rejected suggestions that the .280 be adopted as the standard calibre. The Canadians had been buying .30 calibre Garands from the United States to re-equip their forces. After the Anglo-American impasse developed, they stopped buying Garands until the air cleared.

As a result the Canadian army now uses two rifles. The 27th Brigade, bound for Europe and service under General Eisenhower, has Garands. The 25th Brigade, in Korea, and the former 23rd Brigade at home, now called the "mobile striking force," are still equipped with obsolete .303 Lee-Enfields. However, Claxton has announced that Canada has enough Garands to equip a division, normally three brigades.

No one quarrels with the principle of standardization. It is self-evident that the N.A.T.O. countries would be handicapped if their arms and equipment varied so greatly that ammunition and parts supplied to one national component of a N.A.T.O. army could not be used by the forces of another national component.

Yet that is largely the situation today. The British claim their .280 rifle is the best. The Americans put their money on their designs. The French think highly of their .285 rifle. And the Belgians claim their .280 rifle is far better than the British weapon far better than the British weapon of the same calibre.

Such lack of agreement necessitates great duplication of manufacturing and supply facilities, and dissipates the strength of N.A.T.O.—which strength is still far from sufficient for the task facing it, as this week's N.A.T.O. council meetings have emphasized.

Let's You Pay

(From the Christian Science Monitor)

BEFORE they left San Francisco the Soviet delegates to the treaty conference cleaned the rugs, polished the silverware, paid $1,000 for plumbing and electrical repairs, and proved themselves ideal tenants of the 37-room mansion they had hired for the occasion. "I have never dealt with nicer or more co-operative people," said the real estate agent who let it to them.

And now, as though to compound this niceness and co-operativeness, a Soviet spokesman at the United Nations has borne gracious tribute to American capitalism. The diplomat in question, A. A. Soldatov, suggests that the United States pay half the yearly operating costs of the U.N. because a study of comparative incomes shows the American economy best able to sustain this load.

Shades of Marx, Lenin, and all five-year plans to date! Where is that post-war collapse of American capitalism which follows inevitably from orthodox Soviet doctrine? The United States should accept Mr. Soldatov's gratuitous though left-handed compliment in the same spirit in which it is given. "No, really!" Americans might say. "You're too kind. We don't want to hog all the credit and are perfectly willing to share more of the expenses with you. You mustn't feel too indebted to our system."

After all, two can be nice and co-operative as well as one.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Shortages of pennies and nickels are attributed to sales taxes and parking meters. And so it goes, for one reason or another, all the way up to $1,000 bills.

An opponent of broadcasting the debates in Commons says to do so would completely ruin parliament. Let's have a little consideration for radio, too.

Slogger Sam lay wearily in his dressing-room. One eye was completely closed and his nose felt all over the place. In fact, Sam had had the hiding of his life. Suddenly the door burst open and in dashed his manager.

"Cheer up! I've great news for you!"

"What is it," asked the battered boxer faintly.

"I've arranged a return fight for next week!"

Almost time again for tweeds, those useful garments which take the rap for the 10 pounds put on since spring.

The season's award for tact goes posthumously to that gift elephant which died at sea.

Canada Revisited

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

WHY don't Canadians want to join the United States?

We Americans, conscious of our power—and made more conscious of it every day by our makers of public opinion—are inclined to think that everybody would like to be one of us. What reservations are in the minds of the people who know us?

Canadians do not doubt that we are economically and militarily powerful—or that we have the will to power. They are somewhat astonished when our leaders warn us of military inadequacy. They see us as the greatest military people on earth: the first to realize war in terms of a vast, integrated, engineering project. They do not think we would lose a war. If they fear anything it is that we may overreach ourselves and provoke one, out of justified military self-confidence. They are glad of our power, as a shield. But they do not envy it, for they are not convinced that it is paying adequate dividends in depth of culture and human happiness.

It was not a Canadian but an American—the poet, Robinson Jeffers—who warned the United States. "You, making haste, haste on decay," but many thoughtful Canadians would agree with him.

Let us put it this way: the first profound ideological struggle in America was between Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson.

Hamilton was the first American to see this country in terms of world power, and to seek to bend its development to that end, and as rapidly as possible. He wanted strong and centralized government, big business and rapid industrialization.

Jefferson feared these things. He wished to keep the United States a nation of landholding free men as long as possible. He anticipated that the rapid growth of great cities would produce a rootless proletariat and a herd mind. He cared more for independence than for prosperity, and feared all forms of centralization of power.

In this country the Hamiltonian tendency has won out. But it has not yet won out in Canada. Canada is more Jeffersonian than we.

When one inquires why Canada, a nation of less than fifteen millions with all the resources to make a great power, does not throw her gates wide open to immigrants as we did in the last century, Canadians are likely to ask, "What's the hurry?"—inclined to think that a slower development may have advantages in the long run.

Like ourselves today, but unlike ourselves 50 years ago, Canadians are conscious of the necessity of conserving, not only exploiting, natural resources, unwilling that these should be mined without regard to the future.

Canadians think they have a better form of government than we, and a more democratic one, because the executive is at all times dependent on parliament for his tenure of office, and because their constitution is less rigid than ours.

There are no conditions under which Canada could go to war (even as a "police action" for "peace") without a vote of parliament. No Canadian prime minister could, like our president, decide on his own initiative to send drafted troops to Korea.

Public opinion is not so successfully "engineered" in Canada as in the United States. The art of huckstering products and ideas is, like natural resources, still underdeveloped (and many Canadian and one visiting American, at least, hope it will remain so).

Canadians do not yet have television of their own—and are apt to be sensitive about it—but those who have seen the American product seemed more than willing to let us do the pioneering in that field.

Canadians see conformity and standardization creeping over America—at a rate that seems to Canadians more of a gallop than a creep. They see civilization flourishing at the expense of culture.

No one predicted that America would become totalitarian. But several hinted that America was more likely to become so than Canada.

Esquimalt Can Raise $800,000 for Works

Esquimalt municipal borrowing power is good to about $800,000, Mr. A. C. Wurtele said yesterday.

This was learned after a meeting with B. C. Bracewell, deputy municipal affairs minister, he said. The conference dealt with possibility of floating a loan for public works.

Details of any proposed program are to be reported to the next council meeting.

Cleveland Indians gained on this play in second inning against Detroit yesterday but they lost out in final reckoning when Bob Feller failed to hold 5-0 lead. Sam Chapman, Cleveland outfielder, slides home safely during five-run rally as ball (upper right) is knocked from glove of Tiger Catcher Frank House.

In contrast, New York Yankees gained important victory over Boston Red Sox but lost out on this play as Phil Rizzuto (40) was caught in rundown between second and third and tagged out by Johnny Pesky (6). Other Sox players converging on Rizzuto are Fred Hatfield (27), third baseman; Ted Williams (top), left fielder, and Billy Goodman (right), second baseman. ## Cougars' Popular Kid Line Gets Raves At Workouts From Camp Railbirds

(Jim Tang, Colonist sports editor, is en route to Saskatoon to cover training activities of Victoria Cougars. He will remain with the club until it returns to the coast for the opening game of the Pacific Coast Hockey League schedule at Vancouver Oct. 5. His daily reports will start appearing on this page next week.)

(Special to The Colonist)

SASKATOON, Sask., Sept. 22.—Victoria's champion Cougars have had only four hours of practice in their two days of training here but their popular "kid" line already is drawing the raves from Saskatoon Railbirds.

Reg. Abbott, Andy Heberton and Bobby Frampton, whose combined age is only 64 years, went at top speed in the Cougars' workout here Thursday and Friday and coach Roger Leger was almost as enthused over their showing as were the sidelines.

The three youngsters are in tip-top condition. Even Heberton, inclined towards being overweight, scaled only 178 pounds at the close of Friday's session. Andy scaled 183 pounds at the start of last season. Abbott was a trim 160 as he stepped on the scales while Frampton weighed in at 172.

Flori Goegan still was among the absentees although he had a telephone conversation with the general manager, Fred Hutchinson Thursday and indicated he would come in from North Battleford where he has been "holidaying." Leger was the only defenceman in camp for the first two days.

The Cougars' pilot is hopeful that Lester Patrick, owner of the club, will bring at least two defencemen and three forwards into camp on Monday. Patrick still is in Montreal negotiating for additional talent which is expected to round out the club.

Victoria's first two days of training consisted chiefly of conditioning work although Leger worked the "Kid Line" as a unit throughout short scrimmage sessions. Eddie Dorohay, Jack McIntyre and Don Lardner, a Saskatchewan native out for a trial, made up another combination with Bernie Strongman, Joe Evans and Joe Medynski forming a third. Jim Shirley, acquired from Cleveland, and Eddie Smith, a local product, handled the netminding chores.

Getting back to the "Kid Line," it was their nifty combination play which drew much of the attention from the sideline fans. One of the fans was heard to remark, "Those Quakers better get something. Those flying kids from Victoria are going to be tough to beat."

The Cougars will continue to have twice-daily one-hour workouts in preparation for next Saturday's first exhibition tussle against the Saskatoon club. Plans for a game in Regina have been dropped. The championship roster is expected to be complete by the middle of next week.

Vic. High Athletes Start Tough Training Program

By IAN GLENDAY

With the election of house captains completed Victoria High School's athletic program is rolling in high gear. Named by matric students to lead their respective houses in inter-high sports were: House I—Len Anderson and Sylvia Berg; House II—Pete Kirchner and Marina Fatt; House III—Lorne Oakley and Jean Myers; House IV—Ted Whan and Barbara Richardson.

Still smarting from spanking defeats by Oak Bay in soccer and rugby last year, Victoria High will go all out to upset their cross-town rivals. A rigid conditioning program has been mapped out in hopes of returning the lost laurels to the school.

On the rugby scene, a large turnout was on hand for the first practise with many of last year's team showing well. Ted Whan, Don Donahue, Jim Kennet, John Shields and John Skillings are a few of coach Joe Andrews' returning proteges. Expected to round out the team are several good players up from junior ranks.

Twenty-three cage aspirants attended the first Totem basketball practice as coach George Andrews began preparations for a busy season. Seven of last year's members have returned and are expected to form the nucleus of this year's team. A full schedule has been arranged in preparation for the B.C. high school tournament in which Totems finished fourth last year.

The cross country team will hold its first workouts on the new cinder track, gradually changing to road work according to coach Gordon Hartley. Nearly 20 runners have turned out in preparation for the first race of the year against an as yet unnamed navy squad. Pete Kirchner, Dickie Wood, Ted Whan and Jack Lawrence are a few who will try to keep Victoria High's good record intact.

House III will be out to defend its honors in the inter-house swimming gala at the Crystal Gardens, Oct. 12. This meet features swimming, diving and aquatic events and never fails to draw a large crowd.

Royals Capture League Series

Thrill Finish By Fernwood Ties Up Series

Fernwood tied the best-of-three final series for the city bantam box lacrosse championship at 1-1 with a thrilling last-minute 5-4 victory over Saanich at Stevenson Park last night.

Ken Watson and Eddie Kowalyk shared the hero's mantle. Watson scored the winning goal with less than a minute remaining, after Kowalyk tied the score at 4-4 with his second goal of the evening with less than three minutes left.

Dennis Atkinson picked up the other goals for the winners. Saanich built up a 4-1 lead during the first half on goals by George Robbins, with two, Doug Jones and Eric Badminton.

The Canucks leave here in the morning and expect to take to the ice for their first skate during the afternoon.

SEATTLE, Sept. 21 (AP).—The San Diego Padres advised the Western International Baseball League today they were severing relations with the farm team in Tacoma, Wash.

William Starr, president of the Pacific Coast League Padres, suggested that the W.I.L. directors investigate Lewiston, Idaho, and Calgary, as possible sites for the franchise.

Interests in Lewiston have been working for several weeks to effect a switch of the franchise. Lewiston once was a member of the league.

Edmonton also has expressed an interest in putting a team in the W.I.L.

Starr said he was open to the best offer, which must be submitted to and approved by the league directors.

The directors adjourned late today. They will hold another meeting Nov. 5 at Victoria.

Girls' Sports Lined Up At Victoria High School

By GERRY KOSKI

Intra-mural sports for girls at Victoria High School will commence next week with inter-house grass hockey swinging into action. Keen competition is expected between Houses II and IV, who finished in a tie for the school title last season.

In conjunction with the house hockey, the Inter-High School Grass Hockey League will start on Tuesday with games at Victoria High, Oak Bay and Mount Douglas. Victoria High has again entered two teams—Black and Golds—in the circuit. Oak Bay also has two entries—Whites and Greens, Mount View, Mount Douglas and Esquimalt have also entered to make a seven-team set-up.

Basketball, always the most popular girls' sport at V.H.S., will not commence until next month. Teams will be organized in October, with the junior girls league starting in early November and the senior girls around Christmas.

SWIM TRAINING

Training will start shortly for the inter-house swimming gala. Although primarily held as an inter-house sport, the meet will also help to find the strongest possible team to oppose Oak Bay. Although Vic High has won this event for the last five years with opposition composed of flying "Y" members such as Barbara Westinghouse, Gill Watson, Gail Stott, Marilyn Hawes and Robin Clark, the victor cannot be prophesied.

Election of house captains, who will organize and direct their house's activities for the next ten months, was made last week. They are: House I, Sylvia Berg and Beverly Barnes; House II, Marina Fatt and Jean Easter; House III, Jeannie Myers and Juanita Morris; House IV, Barbara Richardson and Viola Yetman.

Hopes Disputes Will Be Settled By Sportsmen

QUEBEC, Sept. 21 (CP).—Premier Duplessis said today he hopes a dispute over the status of so-called amateur players on National Hockey League Club negotiation-lists will be settled by the sports organizations concerned.

He indicated the government does not wish to intervene in the dispute by applying legislation passed in 1939 and providing for a provincial commission with powers to regulate all sport in Quebec.

Premier Duplessis said: "We wish that, as much as possible, problems that concern individuals be settled by individuals. However, if government intervention is necessary we will not hesitate."

The premier was commenting on a protest by Hon. Gerald Martineau, member of the legislative council, against an arrangement by which players on N.H.L. negotiation-lists would sign professional contracts before performing with Quebec Senior Hockey League teams.

"True Independent"

No person can honestly serve the people he is supposed to represent and have a first allegiance to any political party. Independent candidate Archibald McIntyre told a Langford meeting last night.

Formerly director of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture and secretary of the Metcoshin Farmers' Institute, the tall, ruddy-faced Scot told the assembly that he was "the only true Independent in the field," for the Esquimalt by-election.

"I have been urged to enter the field by many people who will not on any account support the government candidate and yet do not want to vote C.C.F.," he declared.

"Insurance, by his worry factor, affects the health and retards the recovery of patients," he added.

Listing reports of hospital insurance expenditures, he pointed to one item marked $373,687 for office supplies and general.

"Oh, how that word 'general' can cover up a multitude of sins," he said.

NOTHING PERSONAL
Turning to the other candidates "although I don't like referring to them and have nothing against them personally," Mr. McIntyre stated that Commander A. C. Wurtelle could not be a real Independent when only a few weeks before he had been a member of the Esquimalt Conservative group.

In reference to Mayor Percy George, he said:

A canvass for supplies for the supper will be made by Mrs. K. R. Genn, Mrs. C. Hill, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. K. L. M. Lewis, Mrs. Wyper, Mrs. Dyer and Mrs. K. K. John. Mrs. Genn, Mrs. N. Westwood, Mrs. N. Andrew, Mrs. Dyer, Mrs. John, Mrs. W. S. Tucker and Mrs. Brown will take charge of the tables.

Mr. A. Miller will arrange a short program. A special meeting to complete supper plans will be held at the home of Mrs. Lewis on Sept. 28. The next regular meeting of the guild will also be held at Mrs. Lewis' home, Oct. 9.

With Sellout Guild Starts New Season

Lord Stanley in whose honor the park was named.

The Earl, described as the "richest man in Britain," will spend some time in several oil-producing centres.

Biblical Drama Now Playing at Dominion

Susan Hayward (Bathsheba) looks admiringly at Gregory Peck (King David) in the spectacular Technicolor achievement, "David and Bathsheba," now playing at the Dominion Theatre. Darryl F. Zanuck's production, directed by Henry King from a screen play by Philip Dunne, features a cast of thousands including Raymond Massey and Kieron Moore. The Twentieth Century-Fox picture was in production for many months, following two years in the planning stage, and represents the greatest outlay for battle, color and pageantry in recent film history.

Legislature Needs Youth, C.C.F. Candidate Claims

The provincial legislature needs more young men with a fresh viewpoint, Frank Mitchell, youthful C.C.F. candidate in the Esquimalt by-election, declared this week in a radio broadcast. "The Coalition of tired old men is dying," he said, and will not exist as a party in the next general election. "There is no meaning to their program. They have none to offer. They stand on their record," he said. HEAVIEST TAXED Mr. Mitchell said that the Coalition government and "the most inept finance minister in B.C.'s history" has made B.C. citizens the heaviest taxed per capita of any province in Canada. "They have added millions to our provincial debt," he added. "They have given us co-insurance and higher hospital insurance premiums. They have given us a

Coalition Rule Called Worst In B.C. History

The John Hart Coalition was a good government but the present one, with only one of the original members left, is "the worst we have ever had," W. A. C. Bennett told a Sooke meeting last night, speaking on behalf of Cmdr. A. C. Wurtele. An independent in the Esquimalt by-election, Cmdr. Wurtele is supported by Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Willie Robison, both rebel Coalitionists. "The only reason the Aluminum Company of Canada moved into B.C. is because power is cheap and the site is close to the sea, 'not because they believe the government of B.C. is a good one,'" said Mr. Bennett. Mrs. Robison lit into the government on several counts. She decried the "dictatorial attitude" of the provincial government toward teachers' pensions and the "rather terrible situation" concerning liquor laws. She said the only way to solve the milk problem was to abolish the milk board. Cmdr. Wurtele spoke at length on the hospital insurance scheme, which he said was "subject to abuse and due for revision." He said the scheme had been put through hurriedly and "in a dictatorial manner." "The province is entitled to something more palatable," he declared. He said he favored "sane drinking" and would seek to serve "a broader sphere in this regard." C. A. Helgesen was chairman of the meeting, attended by about 70 Sooke residents.

Meeting Date Expected Soon To Name Group

A date is expected to be set next week for a meeting of a five-man committee to study plans for a Saanich Peninsula irrigation system. Percy Thorpe, co-chairman of the committee, said action had been delayed due to absence of some committee members. Those named earlier were Mr. Thorpe, F. B. Hoole, Farmers' Institute president, J. J. Woods, Dominion Experimental Farm superintendent; V. E. Virgin, Vaynass Road farmer, and Raymond Woolridge, bulb farmer.

PRECIOUS COIN
ROSENEATH, Ont. (CP)—A 145-year-old coin found by Mrs. Christopher Marsden in her garden in this town near Peterborough—has the inscription "Georgius III Rex 106." She previously found two coins of Queen Victoria's reign.

Logger Pays $200 Fine, License Suspended Year

David Pugh, Elder Logging Camp, Sooke, was fined $200 and his driver's license was suspended for a year in police court yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while his ability to do so was impaired by alcohol. Constable Lorne Johnson told his car several feet from the curb on Douglas Street and when questioned appeared unsteady and under the effects of alcohol.

THREE FINED
Three drivers pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving and were fined $35 each. They were Kenneth E. Smith, 1704 Myrtle-William-J-Barriskill, 1075 Pentrelew Place, and Ronald
